

Easelly's Focus on Accessibility and Diversity

Education, and the tools that support it, should be universal. Now more than ever, it's important for children and educators to have access to tools that help them learn, as well as tools that embrace diversity.

We at Easelly take this very seriously, which is why we've worked with educators and designers to create

VPAT Accessibility for students with special needs

Our tool is designed to allow students with sensory, developmental, or physical impairments to use our tool to the fullest.

Diverse images, icons, and figures

We ensure that everyone who uses our platform has an icon, object, or illustrated person that reflects their age, race, ethnicity, and physical appearance. Even their favorite food!

A tool that allows people to tell their story visually

Visuals are universal - we just give people the tools to bring their story to life!

We know that visuals are the universal language; they are what bring us together. That's why Easelly focuses on providing an education tool that reflects all of our users - not just some.